MADRAS

A south Indian version of dishes found in central and eastern India having a greater preparation of spices which adds to its richness. A very spicy dish.

£12.00

KHARAI

£12.00

The name Kharai is derived from the pan which is very similar to the wok and has been used for many centuries to prepare this traditional style of cooking. A generous portion of lamb, chicken, prawn, vegetables or seafood is cooked in a thick blend of succulent sauce flared in the Kharai. This dish is highly recommended to curry connoisseurs.

VINDALOO

Related to the 'Madras' but involving a greater use of garlic, tomato puree, ginger and black pepper. It owes its name and in part its content, to the early Portuguese settlement.

£12.00

DHANSAK

£12.00

Originating from Persia, a mild dish yet it derives a piquant richness from its blend of spiced oil with garlic, mashed pineapple and lentils which belies the apparent confusion of its ingredients. For the spice addicts please ask to serve at a higher spice rating.

BHUNA

A combination of spices, herbs, tomato and onion put together to provide a dish of light mellow flavours.
